ACPK PRIVACY AND PERSONAL DATA PROTECTION STATEMENT

The Association of Computing Practitioners Kenya (ACPK) respects and is committed to protecting the privacy, confidentiality and security of personal information entrusted to it by members, applicants, event participants, partners and website visitors.

In accordance with the Kenya Data Protection Act, 2019, its implementing regulations and the EU General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR), where applicable, ACPK collects and processes personal data only for specified, legitimate and lawful purposes.

These purposes include membership registration and administration, professional verification, subscription management, event participation, Continuing Professional Development (CPD), professional recognition, issuance of digital credentials, member communications, and compliance with applicable legal and regulatory obligations.

ACPK processes only personal information reasonably necessary for these purposes and implements appropriate technical and organizational safeguards against unauthorized access, disclosure, alteration, loss or misuse.

Personal information shall not be sold or disclosed to sponsors, commercial partners or other unauthorized third parties for independent marketing purposes. Where information must be shared with authorized service providers or other recipients, ACPK shall apply an appropriate lawful basis, contractual safeguards and applicable data protection requirements.

Members have rights concerning their personal data, including the right to be informed, access their information, request correction, object to certain processing and request deletion where legally applicable. Additional rights may apply under the GDPR. ACPK shall retain personal information only for as long as necessary for legitimate purposes or as required by law.

By using ACPK's digital services, individuals are encouraged to review the full Privacy Notice to understand their rights and ACPK's data protection practices. Use of the website does not, by itself, constitute consent to optional processing.
